Biographical/Historical Note

David McCord Wright (1909-1968) was born in Savannah, Georgia, the son of Anton Pope and Hannah McCord Smythe Wright. He was educated in Savannah public schools, attended the Citadel in Charleston, S.C., and then went to the University of Pennsylvania where he studied architecture. He received his LL.B. (Bachelor of Law degree) at the University of Virginia in 1935 and practiced law in Savannah and Atlanta for a short time. From 1937-1940 he was a graduate student in economics at Harvard University in Boston, Massachusetts, receiving his M.A. in 1939 and his Ph.D. in 1940. He was appointed assistant Professor of Business Administration at the University of Virginia in 1939 and served there for thirteen years, becoming Professor of Economics and Lecturer in Law. In 1953 he was invited by Oxford University to become Fulbright lecturer in economics where he remained for two years. In 1955 he was appointed Dow Professor of Economics and Political Science at McGill University in Montreal, Canada. He returned to Georgia in 1962 as Professor of Economics at the University of Georgia, serving in that position until his death. He lectured at many colleges and institutions in America, and in Europe in 1956 for the U.S. Department of State. He was the author of books, articles and pamphlets in economics and law. At the time of his death he was Economic Adviser to the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta. His wife was Caroline Noble Jones of Savannah, with whom he had two sons and a daughter.

Scope and Content Note

This collection contains correspondence, David McCord Wright's writings on economics and law, genealogies, clippings, printed materials, scrapbooks and photographs. The correspondence, arranged in chronological order, includes immediate family and connecting lines and David McCord Wright's business, personal and economic correspondence. Of note in the family correspondents are Langdon Cheves, John Bennett, Samuel Gaillard Stoney and H.W. Fellden of Burwash, Sussex, England, whose wife was Julie McCord of Charleston, South Carolina. David Wright's correspondence on economic and political affairs is with well-known persons in America, England and Kikera Yamaoka of Japan. The correspondence covers the years 1908 - May 1978. The family correspondence concerns personal matters, and social life in Charleston and Pendleton, South Carolina and Savannah, Georgia. There are many letters from David Wright to his mother while he was a student at the Citadel, at the University of Pennsylvania, at the University of Virginia and at Harvard; also from Oxford University while he was a Fulbright lecturer. In 1930 he went to the Double S Ranch, Cliff, New Mexico, to recover from arthritis and his letters of that period relate his experiences there. There are letters to David Wright from notable politicians and economists; e.g., Walter F. George, Richard B. Russell, Herman Talmadge, Carl E. Sanders, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., Walter W. Heller, Arthur F. Burns, J.A. Schumpeter, Arthur H. Vandenberg, Paul A. Samuelson, Milton Friedman, C.S. Lewis, Virginius Dabney, Eugene Rostow, Harry Byrd, J.K. Galbraith, John F. Kennedy, Leverett F. Saltonstall, William F. Buckley, Henry R. Luce, John Foster Dulles, et al. (See contents listing). Some speeches and essays of Anton Pope Wright and the memoirs of Mrs. Anton Pope Wright are in the collection. There are 8 boxes of genealogical materials collected by David McCord Wright, arranged alphabetically by name of family, 3 boxes of David Wright's writings on economics and 2 boxes of photographs.
